From the Desk of Fr. Fallon

Laetare!

It's Laetare Sunday, or "Rejoice" Sunday. We do so each year on the Fourth Sunday of Lent.

It's a chance for us to be reminded during our Lenten practices of the coming of the Lord in a few weeks time. And while there is the brutal death He endures, we rejoice because He dies this death to save us from our sin, to accompany us through life, to give us new life.

Tradition holds that people would give roses out during this Sunday, a symbol of the life that has sprung from the seed of faith planted within us. This image reflects our Lenten, theme, too: We've cultivated, planted, and nurtured the seed of faith; now we begin to see new things happening.

Can you see anything sprouting in the soil of your heart? Any tiny seedlings coming from your time in prayer or Lenten practices? Don't be discouraged if not, because even in our trials God is doing great things.

I'm taking a weekend to step away and catch my breath. Special thanks to Fr. Matt Stewart, SJ for substituting once again. I heard how much you all enjoyed him, so he's back! Thanks, Fr. Matt!

Have a great week, all.

Fr. Fallon
